ABOUT THE PWSA

Jacqueline Swan and James Zhan initiated the Professional Writing Students' Association in 2017 with the help of UPD Kerry Doyle, faculty advisors Dunja Baus and Marlene Bernholtz and fellow students.

The PWSA plans and executes events where York students can network with peers, alums, and faculty through writing-focused activities that encourage creative expression on several interactive platforms, from executive council positions to general member and volunteer positions.

Undergraduate students have the opportunity to publish their work in our online journal INVENTIO and to present their work at our Annual Symposium. We also provide an online Discord space for Professional Writing students to share and discuss their writing.

The PWSA is open to all students, faculty members, staff, and alums of York University, regardless of program major or writing experience.

MISSION

To provide students with a safe and inclusive growth-space that aims to support, enrich, and encourage them to share and discuss their ideas with like-minded individuals.

VISION

To provide networking, writing, and community-building opportunities for York University students in collaboration with faculty and alums.

VALUES

The PWSA values inclusivity, professionalism, and community.

- Inclusivity: We welcome and encourage York students, faculty, and alums to participate in PWSA-hosted events.
- Professionalism: We encourage all members to be mindful of their words and interactions with each other, faculty, and alums to exhibit a professional demeanour both within and outside the PWSA and York University.
- Community: We are committed to building and maintaining a community for professional writing industry hopefuls.
